Perdue slain in his store; seek robbers

Madison police continued today a search for clues to the identity of two armed robbers who shot and killed James G. Perdue Sr., 63, and critically wounded an employee in the Perdue Furniture Co. store at 910 Madison Ave., Madison, at 8:30 p.m. Friday. Under intensive care at St. Elizabeth Medical Center is James "Sonny" Crangle, 46, of St. Louis, who was shot in the throat and several times in the abdomen. He underwent surgery immediately following the shooting.

Mr. Perdue, who lived at 2113 Grand Ave., was shot three times in the head. He was pronounced dead upon arrival at the medical center at 8:43 p.m. Madison Chief of Police Don Bridick said two men entered the store as Mr. Perdue and Crangle, who had worked at the store 23 years, were preparing to close. Both of the robbers were black.

Bridick said he expects to establish more details surrounding the shooting after Crangle, reported improving today, is able to be interviewed. What information was immediately available after the shooting Friday night was given police by Crangle before he entered surgery.

The robbers took a grey cash box containing an undetermined amount of cash before fleeing the store, Bridick said.

Mr. Perdue's daughter, Mrs. Mary Tapp of Granite City, told the Press-Record she did not know how the men entered the store, but that in doing so they set off a burglar alarm which summoned police to the store. She said it was customary for her father to close the store at 8:30 p.m. on Fridays.

Chief Bridick asked that anyone with information concerning the robbery and shooting to call the Madison Police Station at 876-4300.

"Anyone with information concerning the incident—anyone who was Beaten, shot—dies today

Frederick J. LaCicero, 32, of 6 Roxbury Court, was killed in his car at 12:45 a.m. today by a 28-year-old Granite City man who, according to police, has admitted shooting and beating Mr. LaCicero.

Patrolman Douglas Law was the first officer to arrive at the scene, in the parking lot of the Parkside Confectionery, 3202 Maryville Road, and the suspect was standing in Maryville Road near O'Hare Avenue, waving his arms for the police car to stop. Law reported.

He recalled the 28-year-old saying, "It's all over. We had it out. The guns are on the car." Law got out of his car, drew his service revolver and ordered the suspect and another man on the parking lot to raise their arms and wait for other officers to arrive.

Law said he saw the victim lying on the front seat of a brown car on the confectionery parking lot with blood on his head and noticed two handguns and a shotgun on the trunk of the brown car.

Patrolman David Polivick arrived and handcuffed the suspect. The second man held by Law was questioned and police said they discovered he was a witness to the shooting.

A Granite City ambulance was summoned, but no signs of life were found and Madison County Deputy Coroner William Sternberg was called and pronounced Mr. LaCicero dead at 1:10 a.m. today, at the scene. Detectives Tony Eck and Don Knight then were called to process the area for evidence.

Officers reported finding several pieces of a broken gun in Mr. LaCicero's auto, near the body, indicating he had been beaten with the Meeting on assessments

Granite Cityans residing in the Seventh Ward may avoid waiting in line to apply for a reduction in the assessed valuation of their homes of up to $1,500, if they attend a special ward meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Nameoki Recreation Center, Pontoon Road and Franklin Avenue.

Seventh Ward Alderman Paul Ray Bowler is sponsoring the meeting as a service to residents with the cooperation of Granite City Township Assessor Von Dee Cruse, who will be present.

Those attending are not required to bring any information with them, such as legal parcel lot numbers or previous assessment rates, both listed on the 1977 tax bills, unless the latter is readily available.

This information will be completed on the forms by members of the assessor's staff, Cruse advised.

An explanation of the 1.11 multiplier being added to the assessments of all Granite City Township residents will be given at the meeting.

To offset the increased rate, each homeowner will qualify for an assessment reduction of up to $1,500 during the next four years.

Bowler stressed, however, that the homeowner must apply before Feb. 15 to get the reduction on his or her 1978 tax bill, and must apply again each succeeding year during the four-year period unless the $1,500 credit already has been used.

"Wednesday's meeting will afford all Seventh Ward homeowners an op-

Valuation cutback

An assessment cutback of up to $1,500 for property owners who live in single-family residences and who received assessment increases for the 1978 year is available under a new state law, assessment officials have explained.

Applications for the reductions must be filed with the assessor of the township in which the property owner lives by Feb. 15.

Under the new law, a homeowner whose assessment was increased during the 1978 year, as compared with the 1977 assessment, may recover any part of the increase up to a total of $1,500.

Any homeowner who occupies the property may apply, regardless of age or income.

For example, a homeowner with a house assessed at $10,000 which was raised to $10,500 last year, could apply for the cutback of $500.

The $1,500 is an established figure for a four-year period. Whatever the amount cut back during 1979, the balance will remain for the remaining three years.

As a public service, the Press-Record prepared the following form which may be returned by mail to Assessor Von Dee Cruse, Granite City Township Building, 21st

Newest license plate plan 6-letter prefixes

By AL MANNING
Press-Record
Springfield Bureau
Secretary of State Alan Dixon's plan to increase the number of letters available on license plates is certain to generate considerable interest.

It's been traditional for secretaries of state to tinker with the combinations, making more "vanity" plates available to motorists. When John Lewis was secretary of state, for example, the number "00" was made available as a prefix on certain plates. He

Industrial exchange growing

The Industrial Waste Exchange, operated for the past three years by the Regional Commerce and Growth Association (RCGA), became the Midwest Industrial Waste Exchange last week when the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Kansas City became a co-sponsor.

The Waste Exchange acts as a clearinghouse for information on industrial wastes for which there are no markets.

Manufacturers describe their usable waste materials for the exchange's quarterly listings. Inquiries from possible users are forwarded by the exchange to the lists.

The expansion of the Waste Exchange was announced simultaneously in St. Louis and at a press conference in Kansas City attended by RCGA President James M. O'Flynn and Kansas City Chamber President Jerome Scott.

"Participation by Kansas City means a real gain in the amount of materials that can be recycled," O'Flynn said. "Also, it is particularly gratifying that our two great metropolitan areas are cooperating on a matter of mutual benefit. We hope to see more of this kind of cross-state cooperation."

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has approved a grant of $93,900 to the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council to promote the Waste Exchange and study its results.

"The grant will permit RCGA, which will continue to operate the exchange, to improve the service and to make a more accurate assessment of its success," O'Flynn said.

"Until now, we have been conducting Waste Exchange operations with staff members whose primary responsibilities lay elsewhere. We hope to hire an additional staff member to concentrate on obtaining more widespread participation."

"We want to increase the exchange's impact. When usable materials are dumped by an industry, there is an economic loss and, in some cases, an environmental one."

The RCGA received an Environmental Quality Award from the EPA in 1977 for its part in organizing and operating the exchange.

The Waste Exchange was created in October 1975 after a seminar on industrial and hazardous wastes.

From the beginning, responses far exceeded expectations. After a year's operation, the exchange had listed 115 materials which attracted 263 inquiries. The mailing list had grown to 1,000.

At that time, seven deals involving 13 materials had been closed or were in process.

Materials listed ranged from potassium chloride to baghouse dust.

also began issuing a limited number of plates with two-letter prefixes.

When Mike Howlett was secretary of state, he began issuing plates with three-letter prefixes.

Dixon said last week he plans to expand the combinations to include four, five and six-letter prefixes.

Dixon plans to charge $50 extra for motorists applying for the new plates. After the first year, an extra $10 will be charged.

For example, a motorist who desires a new six-letter plate who currently pays $30 would pay $80 the first year.

In subsequent years when the plate is renewed, this motorist would pay $40.

Motorists who already have "vanity" plates would be charged extra. They would be protected by a grandfather clause and would continue to pay the same amount they now pay.

Of course, any change in the license plate system must be approved by the legislature. The details of Dixon's plan will be worked out during legislative committee hearings.

During his first term of office, Dixon switched from one-year plates to five-year plates and he also staggered the registration system so new plates and stickers will not have to be newly displayed during the winter months.

After pay raises were approved Nov. 29 for state officials, we reported how Illinois elected officials and cabinet directors compared to other states.

On Jan. 6, the legislators delayed their raise, and also the raises of the cabinet and other officials of the executive branch.

Gov. James Thompson, as you recall, will be paid $58,000 this year and $58,000 next year.

The other elected officials are staggered over a three-year period. Lt. Gov. Dave O'Neal will be paid $41,250 this year, $43,725 next year and $46,500 after that.

Secretary of State Alan Dixon and Attorney General William Scott will be paid $46,750 this year, $49,555 next year and $50,500 after that.

Comptroller Roland

Burris and Treasurer Jerry Cosentino will be paid $44,000 this year, $46,640 next year and $48,000 after that.

The salaries of Cabinet members also vary.

John Kramer, Transportation; Arthur Quern, Public Aid; Robert DeVito, Mental Health, are being paid $48,400 effective this week. Next year they go to $51,300 and the following year to $52,000.

Gayle Franzen, Corrections; Dan Webb, Law Enforcement; Daniel Lennox, Revenue; and Gregory Coler, Children and Family Services, will be paid $44,000 this year and $46,000 after that.

Vince Toolen, Administrative Services, will be paid $44,000 this year and $46,000 next year.

Seven directors will be paid $38,500 this year, $40,800 next year and $43,000 after that.

They are: Richard Mathias, Insurance; John Block, Agriculture; William Boys, Personnel; William Bowling, Labor; Edgar Callahan, Financial Institutions; James Washburn, Veterans Affairs; and Michael Mauzy, Environmental Protection Agency.

Five directors will be paid $35,200 this year, $37,300 next year, $39,500 the following year, and $40,000 after that.

They are: David Kenney, Conservation; Don Duster, Business and Economic Development; Joan Anderson, Registration and Education; Tom Johnson, Local Government Affairs, and Dave Monson, Aging.

The original $8,000 across-the-board raise for the Cabinet exceeded the seven percent guideline established by the federal government, so the raises were staggered. Most of the raises had originally amounted to 20 percent.

Venice ball Saturday

Joe Sherwood and his orchestra will play for the 41st annual Crippled Children's Ball, scheduled at 9 p.m. Saturday at the Venice-Madison American Legion hall, 740 Broadway, Venice.

The public dance is sponsored by the Venice Crippled Children's Organization. Tickets cost $2 each and are available from many Venice residents or at the door Saturday night, Jack Tolliver, ticket chairman, advised.

Sherwood played trumpet for many years with the Hal Bevier, Bud Waples and Russ David orchestras.

His music ranges from the Glenn Miller style through contemporary country and rock.

After a long stint on the road, playing at many major hotels in the U.S., Sherwood organized his current group and had an extended run as the house band at the Billmore Country Club.

Joe is the younger brother of Andy Sherwood, who played at last year's ball in Venice.

In addition to the dance, a "road block" project is set from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday at Broadway and Klein Street.

Donations will be sought from passing motorists by members of the Venice Volunteer Fire Department and Venice-Madison Legion Post 307, under leadership of Ray Freeman and Bill Meehan.

Decorations for the traditional ball will focus this year on "Mickey Mouse."

Mrs. Robinson found dead

Mrs. Esther Robinson, 76, of 2403 Grand Ave., was found without signs of life in her home at 9:35 p.m. Thursday and was declared dead at the scene by Madison County Deputy Coroner Randall Irwin.

Her friends first notified police at 8:15 p.m. Thursday that Mrs. Robinson was not answering her telephone or knocking at her door. Police checked the house, found no signs it had been broken into, and asked the friends to keep trying to reach her.

At 9:35 p.m., officers returned to check on her and broke a window to gain entry. Mrs. Robinson was found in bed wearing a nightgown. There were no signs of foul play and money was still in her purse.

An inquest is to be held to determine the cause of death, but friends told police Mrs. Robinson had been feeling ill and had seen a doctor Wednesday. She was to have been admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center Friday.

Mrs. Robinson was a member of Concordia Lutheran Church and a member of a senior citizens club. She was employed as a seamstress at the Union Tie Co., St. Louis.

She was born in Granite City and was a lifelong resident here.

She leaves a brother, Henry Kubant of Magalia, Calif., a son, Richard Robinson, preceded her in death Jan. 11, 1971.

Youth held in armed robbery

A 15-year-old youth allegedly attempted to rob the Ridgedale Confectionery, 2500 Nameoki Road, at gunpoint at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, but left empty handed when the woman owner refused to cooperate with him.

The youth was taken into custody at his mother's home a short time later and transferred to the Madison County Detention Home at Edwardsville.

Mrs. Helen Pitchford, store owner, noticed a young man standing for some time near the candy counter. He was wearing a handkerchief over his nose, tied at the back of the head, and his hat was pulled down to just above the eyes.

As a cold wind was blowing outside, Mrs. Pitchford did not find the handkerchief unduly suspicious, she said, but she suggested the youth select what candy he wanted and leave the store.

After some children were served and left, the youth came to the rear of the counter and produced a handgun from beneath his coat, telling Mrs. Pitchford and a woman employee to lie down on the floor.

The store owner reported saying, "You've got to be kidding," and then she slapped the gun down. She walked to a rear room and came back with a .22 caliber pistol in her hand and the youth left the building.

As he was going across the street toward the Kirkpatrick Homes, Mrs. Pitchford said he slipped and fell on the icy pavement.

A motorist at the traffic signal lights, at 25th Street and Nameoki Road, saw a man holding a weapon come out of the store and cross the street.

He followed the youth into the housing complex, observed him enter a residence and advised police officers.

Police went to the apartment and talked to the youth's mother and two other youths at the dwelling.

The 15-year-old, who was in a bedroom, came downstairs and retrieved a pellet pistol and a pair of brass knuckles from a hiding place in the couch, police said. The two other youths were questioned and were released to their parents without charges being filed.

Tax credit for saving energy

Persons who have installed insulation to conserve energy bills may be eligible for a tax credit, according to Lynn Chambers, district manager for H & R Block.

The Energy Tax Act of 1978 allows homeowners or renters who have purchased energy savings devices to claim a tax credit based on the cost, including installation, of these devices. Chambers said these devices include insulation, storm and thermal windows, clock thermostats, caulking or weatherstripping exterior doors or windows and electrical or mechanical furnace ignition which replace gas pilot lights.

The tax credit for these devices is 15 percent of the cost, up to a maximum of $300 for each residence. Chambers added that a tax credit also is available to persons whose property transmits or uses solar wind, or geothermal energy, or other forms of renewable energy used to heat or cool a principal residence, or to provide hot water for use in the residence. The maximum tax credit for this property, including installation cost, is $2,000 for each residence.

These tax credits are retroactive to any expenditures made after April 19, 1977, and may be claimed on the 1978 return, Chambers said.

6-year prison sentence

Robert Prince, 38, St. Louis, has been sentenced to serve six years in prison after a jury in Madison County Circuit Court found him guilty of armed robbery. The sentence was pronounced by Circuit Judge Horacio Calvo. Prince was convicted Nov. 28 of participating in the robbery of an attendant at the Clark Service Station, Route 111 and Highway 162, Ponton Beach, of $72 in currency and his money changer Sept. 15. An off-duty Ponton Beach officer, Jeff Chandler, was told three men in a car were acting in a suspicious manner and Chandler then called for police assistance. Chandler then watched the station, viewed the robbery and aided in the apprehension of the three at Interstate 70 and Highway 111, it was reported. The money, coin changer and a gun were recovered, police said.

What pain we endure for beauty

I go to a beauty shop very infrequently. Why, I don't know, since there are so many areas in which I could improve upon nature.

After deciding to give myself a new look some time ago, I went to the local hair care palace to have myself redone.

Jars and bottles, creams and sprays — so many preparations to make me gorgeous. I told the operator to try one of each; I wasn't taking any chances.

After all that humanly could be done to one head of hair was accomplished, it was off to the hair dryer.

I told the operator to try one of each; I wasn't taking any chances.

Whoever invented those monster hats attached to a chair must have hated women. I was tortured by heat and a deafening roar for the next 30 minutes.

Whatever she had done to me must not have worked, because she did it again and sent me to bake under the dryer some more.

By the time I sat down for the third time, I was ready to scream. What pain we women endure in the name of beauty!

Someone had set up a lunch table directly next to my dryer. A bowl of chili came flying toward me.

Whoever invented those monsters must have hated women.

I never heard it coming, such was the roar in my ears. Eternal stink missed my brand new $42 blouse by centimeters.

The chili landed in my lap, which was covered (thank goodness) with the sheet that beauty shops use to keep goaty off of you.

The chili bath was cleared away and I was assured that there would be no charge for lunch.

After what seemed like two hours, I was free of the dryer. It was time for the operator to work her magic and make me a new woman.

As I watched her work, a great fear came over me. She was making me over, all right. One hour later I walked out, a new woman

It must not have worked, because she did it again and sent me to bake under the dryer some more.

indeed — the bride of Frankenstein. I went straight home, rewash my hair and redid it. I never did have any luck with beauty shops. I guess I ask too much. I want them to make a silk purse out of a sow's ear.

Now, I ask you, how can I expect to look like I just stepped out of Vogue when I would be closer if I asked to look as if I had just stepped out of Mad magazine?

CAFE BURGLARY
A doorknob was forced and the door pried to gain entry to the Chuck Wagon Restaurant, 3717 Namek Road, last week. About $17 in change was taken from the cash register and about $95 in bills in an envelope was removed. Also taken were two checks totaling $455.

Warriors down North for GC crown

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY
Emotion plays a major part in sports, to which anyone who attended the basketball game between Granite City North and Granite City South, Friday can attest.

All the classic elements of a strong rivalry were present when the South Warriors defeated North's Steelers, 52-44. South now trails in the series 4-3.

On paper South appeared to be easily the better of the two teams, having a decided height advantage, and a 9-4 record, compared to North's 2-8, but emotions can't be measured on paper.

The Steelers threatened to upset South throughout most of the game. Halfway through the fourth quarter, North was down by only three points. The Warriors then went into a stalling game.

When, in an attempt to steal the ball, North's Dennis Page was called for a foul, his coach, Bill Ohlendorf exploded. He was off the bench, shouting at the official.

His outburst probably cost his team any chance for a come-from-behind victory. He was called for a technical foul. When he continued to complain, he was called for another.

South was awarded four free throws, all of which were converted by South's Jamie Blasingame. South took a 10 point lead, 50-40, and with 1:09 left in the game, finished the Steelers.

Up to that point the teams played a sometimes loose game. The momentum changed hands frequently, but South managed to retain the lead throughout.

North took the initial lead, scoring five points before South's Jeff Vaughn put the Warriors on the board at the five-minute mark of the first quarter. South went on to take the lead on Bill Skinner's free throw, 6-5, and at the end of the first quarter led 9-7. On both sides of the court the fans geared up for what was to come.

The teams were a contrast in styles. South, with its height advantage, forced the Steelers to set up their shots, and to move the ball into position. South's coach Don Deterding said, "We had size on our side, so we forced them to go inside."

The Warriors, on the other hand, used a more balanced attack. Even with Skinner and Lee Heubner underneath the basket, South only pulled down 23 rebounds to 20 for North, yet the Warriors were able to score from inside, as well as hitting from farther outside.

Because of South's offensive versatility, it was able to recapture the momentum of the game when at times it seemed to be slipping in favor of the Steelers. That was the case in the second period. After North had pulled to within three points with about a

North vs. South: a different view

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Friday's basketball game between Granite City South and Granite City North was not just another ordinary game, especially to the spectators who nearly filled the gymnasium to the rafters.

In the past few seasons at both schools, fans haven't had much of a chance to get very excited over somewhat mediocre teams. Accordingly, most of the attention and excitement of the entire season is focused on this game.

And the fans were ready. Banners draped over almost all the available wall space. Each urged the artist's favorite team to commit any of a number of acts of violence in the name of victory. From opposite sides of the court came messages such as "Stuff the Steelers" and "The Steelers are made of steel."

Before the game started, the rival coaches met in front of the scorer's table and had a friendly five-minute conversation. They shook hands and headed to the locker rooms. But after the opening tip-off, all the earlier pleasantries were abandoned. It was the game, and everybody, from the students growing hoarse in the top row of the balcony, to the coaches shouting instructions to their players, was being swept up in the excitement.

Not surprisingly, it was the special emotion of this special game that figured heavily in the outcome. Because North's coach Bill Ohlendorf complained too loudly and vigorously in the opinion of the referee, he was called for two consecutive COLLINSVILLE — For Don Deterding, Saturday was the beginning of a new season.

All season long, many observers have scoffed at the idea of Granite City South becoming even a reasonable facsimile of the basketball power it once was. Critics, take note.

Deterding's South

South wrestlers do well

ST. LOUIS — The Granite City South varsity wrestling team won a quadrangular meet here Saturday with Hazelwood Central (the host school). Lindberg and Roxana.

The final scores were: South 285, Hazelwood Central 198, Lindberg 100 and Roxana 85.

Highlights for South were three wins by Sam Perkins to keep his undefeated string alive, three victories by 185-pounder Don King, three wins by Dean Perkins and six individual championships in all for the Warriors.

In the dual scores between the four teams, South defeated Hazelwood Central 32-15, downed Roxana 44-6 and whipped Lindberg 44-15. Complete individual results are listed in today's Scoreboard.

North doesn't make trip

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City North wrestling Steelers did not make the trip to the annual Quince Invitational Tournament Friday and Saturday because of inclement weather and poor road conditions.

The tournament was held, however. It was won by Cahokia.

The next action for the varsity Steelers will be this Saturday, when they host Cahokia and Roxana in a double-dual meet beginning at 11 a.m.

Warriors came into Collinsville High's Fletcher Gym and gave the host Kahoks yet another close call. Even though the Warriors lost 62-58, the Kahoks knew they were lucky to get out of the hallowed halls unscathed yet another time. The loss dropped South to 9-4 while Collinsville is 13-3.

If not for a frigid-as-ice shooting first quarter on the part of South, the outcome very well could have been different. The Warriors shot a cool 17 percent in that first stanza.

Deterding partially blamed his not getting the team properly prepared mentally. "When you come into Collinsville's back yard, you're naturally going to be a little hyper," he said. "I was afraid to get them too tight for the game. But as it turned out, I might not have gotten them high enough."

How cold were the Warriors? They were so cold that they trailed Collinsville 19-7 at the end of the first quarter and at one point, were down 23-9.

So what happened to turn the tide? "We just started to hit," said Deterding. "It's as simple as that."

Collinsville's famed ballpress didn't seem to have much of an effect on South. But nonetheless, South committed enough turnovers to take itself right out of the game on many occasions when it could have closed to within two or four points down the stretch.

"It wasn't artistic, I'll admit," said Deterding, "and by no means am I glad we lost. But I'm just as proud of these kids as I can be."

"I just hope they know what it means to come into this place and go home only four-point losers."

Collinsville Coach Gene Catalpa was somewhat less than pleased with his team's effort. "I know it's hard for a minute and a half left in the half, South's Skinner scored first from under the basket, then, with the buzzer sounding, Vaughn hit a forty-footer to put the Warriors up 21-16 at the half.

In the second half North continued to pull close, only to be met by a resurgence by South. In the third quarter, the Steelers managed to get within four points late in the period, but by the end were behind 37-30.

Deterring thought a large part of South's success was due to his team's defensive play. "Defense has been the key all year long," he said.

"Tonight we had one plan; keep the dad-gummed basketball away from (Dennis) Page. And if he had the ball we were going to double team him."

Page, North's leading scorer for the game, scored 13 points. "They did a good job on him," said Ohlendorf, "but they didn't stop him at the foul line. Their defense did a good job overall."

South went into the final period sensing victory. The Warriors became even more defensive, and began to slow down the game. In response, the Steelers began to run and drive. Before the Ohlendorf blow-up, they managed to close the difference to three points using the fast break.

But after the technicals were called, North was finished. Down by 10 points with little more than a minute left, the task was too large.

Ohlendorf breathes long sigh of relief

BELLELEVILLE — Granite City North basketball Coach Bill Ohlendorf breathed a sigh of relief here last week. He found out that his team will NOT have to face top-seeded DeSmet High School in the first round of the Belleville East Basketball Tournament which begins tomorrow (Tuesday) night.

North escaped that dubious honor by beating

Belleville Althoff Jan. 5. Before that game it was a battle between the two schools for the bottom seed in the tournament.

So, Althoff will face DeSmet.

North will open the tournament against a tough opponent in its own right, Belleville West, Tuesday at 7 p.m. West is currently tied for the lead in the Southwestern Conference and has a six-point victory this season over highly-regarded Collinsville.

DUPO — Madison Basketball Coach Larry Graham might just be wondering if his players are getting enough sleep.

His Madison Trojans jumped out to an early lead here Friday night, but had to overcome a "mental lapse" on their part to defeat Dupo 62-56 and in the process claim their fourth straight Dupo Tournament championship. Madison is now 13-3.

"We've got to bear down more when we get ahead," said Graham. "This has happened in many games this season. We'll get ahead, then let up. All of a sudden our big lead isn't so big any more."

Dupo at one point trailed by 15 points, but came back to close the gap to a mere two (44-52) with about two minutes left in the game. "I'd say our performance was an average one for us," said Graham. "We played good enough to win, but against some of the tougher teams on our schedule, things would have been different if we'd played like this."

Two Trojans were named to the all-tournament team. Carlyn Jackson was played as a forward and Kenny Stanley was picked as the Most Valuable Player of the tournament.

The early lead by Madison may have evaporated because of a mental lapse according to Graham. But Dupo Coach Steve McFall said it made things even tougher on his team. "When you have to play catch-up basketball against a team like Madison, you're in trouble," he said. "They are so quick. They make teams look bad."

The result was turnovers which aided the Trojan cause. "One thing about Madison," said McFall, "They not only cause errors on our part, they took advantage of them, too."

"We had been averaging around five or six errors a game. Tonight, I think we made over 20."

Dupo started the game as if it were going to force the Trojans right out of the gym. With Randy Ladyman using the antiquated set-shot, the Tigers staked out a 12-10 lead early in the game. But behind the rebounding of Kenny Stanley and the hot shooting hand of Carlyn Jackson, Madison claimed an 18-12 lead at the end of the stanza. The two teams scored the same number of points in the second period, giving Madison a 36-24 lead at halftime.

"Boy, at halftime, I thought we'd finally poured it on enough to coast," said Graham. "But we let them come back and get right back into the game."

While Ladyman and Dewayne Baumgart were the big guns for Dupo's Tigers, Madison, as usual, enjoyed a balanced scoring attack.

"That's going to continue to help us down the stretch," said Graham. "Now that (James) Heard looks like he's coming back into his own, it gives us another player who can hurt the opposition. They can't key on just one player."

Trojan sophomore stand-out (6'11") Morris Hughes, has slowed down a bit, according to Graham. "It's hard to start a sophomore like Hughes every day," he said. "Eric (Stanley) is an excellent player, but starting Hughes gives us that much more bench strength."

Graham said he thought his team is beginning to shape up properly after a Christmas break lull. "We had a letdown around Christmas," he said. "We went into the Breesee Mater Dei Tournament and lost two games (to Nashville and Chatham-Glenwood)."

"I gave the guys about a week off to start it's starting to just open up."

Does it hurt a team like Madison to have a close game once in a while? "No, I think it's good to have some pressure on us," said Graham. "But I hope we don't let it come back to haunt us sometime."

The next action for Madison will be this Friday (Jan. 26) at home against perennial rival Lebanon. The Trojans will travel to Livingston Saturday night.

Another addition to squad

Devis seeded third in Sparta Tourney

SPARTA — Venice's Red Devils have been seeded third in the annual Sparta Invitational Basketball Tournament which opens here tonight.

The Devils will not play until tomorrow (Tuesday) night. They will face Waterloo Senior (the sixth seed) at 8:30. It will be the final game of the first round. In other first round games, Marissa will play Red Bud Monday at 7 p.m. and Sparta will face Trico Tuesday at 7 p.m. Freeburg was seeded first and received a bye in the first round.

Sparta was the second seed, Red Bud is fourth, Marissa fifth and Trico seventh. Venice finished second in the Freeburg Christmas Tournament while Freeburg finished fourth.

The tournament will continue through Saturday night. It will be a double elimination.

Venice Coach Ken Perkins got some more good news last week. In addition to the return of standout forward-center Ron Salmund, he will be getting another member of last season's tough Lovejoy squad.

The new addition is 5'8" jumping-jack Darryl Jones. The quick left-hander is eligible to play this semester after sitting out the first.

Last Saturday night's Venice-Vashon game in Venice was cancelled because of the weather. A strike in St. Louis. If it cannot be rescheduled, the game will be forfeited to Venice.

GC's Whelans aiding Mizzou wrestling

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Old Man Winter has wreaked havoc on the Missouri wrestling schedule, but Tiger coach Bob Kopinsky has no complaints.

Heavy snows prevented the Northern Iowa squad from traveling to Columbia for a Jan. 13 meet while the Oklahoma State team was stranded in Iowa City, cancelling Missouri's Jan. 15 match in Stillwater.

Tri-captain Dane Ives (134 pounds) will benefit most from the lay-off. Ives underwent knee surgery, in mid-November and was scheduled to make his dual meet debut in the Northern Iowa match.

"Dane wasn't ready," says Kopinsky. "Every day he keeps getting better and better. He just needs conditioning and a little confidence with the knee."

Kopinsky doubts the Northern Iowa meet will be made up this season. The Oklahoma State meet will be rescheduled as soon as the Cowboys get in from Iowa. Kopinsky would like to reschedule it for Monday, Feb. 19, but must wait to confirm the date with Oklahoma State. Missouri wrestles Oklahoma at Norman February 17.

The Tigers will take a trip to Jefferson City Monday for a meet with Lincoln University. The Tigers are 2-0 against Lincoln, after a 50-0 victory last year.

Among the regular wrestlers for Mizzou is 118-pounder Kris Whelan, a freshman from Granite City North High. Whelan is tied for the most victories on the team with an 11-4-0 won-lost record.

Whelan has recorded two falls, had one major decision and is 1-1 in superior decisions. He has outscored his opponents by a total of 45-14.

Khris's brother Keith, a sophomore from GCHS North has an 8-7-1 record at Mizzou, wrestling at 125 pounds. He has recorded one fall, has two superior decisions and one major. He has outscored his opponents 34-23.

technical fouls. The resulting four free throws spelled the end for North.

Did Ohlendorf let his emotions get the better of them? "Any time these kids compete against each other it's emotional," he said. "You get caught up in the thing if you have any feeling for the kids. You'd be less of a person if you didn't. It really means a lot to them."

Ohlendorf was speaking in a quiet hoarse voice, almost a whisper. His players had nearly all left the locker room.

Just another game?

GRANITE CITY — Well, they did it again. The two high schools in Granite City tangled for the fourth time this school year in a "major" sport (football, basketball, soccer). And, like two of the three previous meetings (North downed South in one out of two soccer games), South's Warriors won, 57-44. The game was filled with action . . . and the gym at GCHS South was filled to the rafters with people. One of the few times during a season that the gym is filled.

team to get up for every game," he said. "Heck, look at last year's Kahoks. They were supposed to be unbeatable and they got beat by Herrin down at Carbondale."

"But South can play with just about any of the people we play."

The first-year Collinsville coach said he blamed his squad's inability to make free throws for the closeness of things. "If we make our free throws, we win by 15 points," he said.

With 2:26 remaining in the third quarter, junior Kahok giant (6'9") Roger Mosier fouled out. He had pumped in 18 points for the Collinsville cause up to that point. What did Mosier's fouling-out do to the South attack plan? "Naturally, we thought we could work it inside to (Bill) Skinner (6'5") a little better after than," said Deterding.

"But their kids rallied to pick up the slack."

The second quarter of the game belonged to South as much as the first had to Collinsville. The Warriors came back to narrow the Kahok lead at halftime to 25-24. The big gun in the South comeback was James Blasingame. He pumped in 16 points to lead the Warriors' attack.

Blasingame was playing in his second straight game after being sidelined for about a week because of a bout with chicken pox.

Late in the third quarter, South closed the score to 44-38. But a burst of speed from Collinsville's Dave Burg (plus a foul on South's Jeff Parker) stretched the gap to 47-38.

"We let them get away with things like that too much," said Deterding. "We didn't get enough pursuit from behind. That's not good."

What was good in Deterding's eyes was his club's overall defensive effort. Especially that of guard Jeff Parker. "I've been coaching for 19 years," he said, "and I've never coached a better defensive player than Parker."

The next action for South will be this Friday (Jan. 26) at Alton.

The Schermers Bulletin

After a long absence, we're back with the "Bulletin" because we feel in times like these we better start sharing with you our feelings about what is going on in the Supermarket Business. And, what is going on is something the likes of which we have never seen. Most of the problem is price advances; and most of the advances concern MEAT. In less than 30 days, beef prices have advanced more than 30%. We have never seen such a rapid rise, and worse, there appears no immediate relief in sight.

What we are doing is buying and featuring non-beef items which, in our opinion, are excellent values. Starting now, we are devoting most of our Monday meat ad to those kinds of items. We hope you will take advantage of these "special buys" which we will be recommending to you.

'78 record year for A. O. Smith

A. O. Smith Corporation had record sales and earnings in 1978, it was reported last week by L. B. Smith, chairman and chief executive officer.

Smith said earnings from continuing operations were up 63.2 percent from 1977 on a 10.9 percent increase in sales. Profit as a percent of sales was 3.3 percent, compared with a margin of 2.3 percent in 1977.

"Our results in 1978 are an indication," Smith said, "that the company is making solid progress in attaining the long-term objectives we have set for ourselves. Our return on stockholders' equity of 14.1 percent is our best in many years."

He noted that the company spent $29,711,000 in capital programs in 1978, the second highest level in its history, with major outlays in a number of product areas, including a new plant for the Electric Motor Division and a new plant site in the South for the Automotive Division.

For the year as a whole, A. O. Smith had sales of $806,536,000 and earnings from continuing operations of $27,012,000, or $5.50 per share, compared with sales in 1977 of $727,283,000 and earnings from continuing operations of $16,549,000, or $3.38 per share.

Fourth-quarter results from continuing operations also were record.

Sales were $205,382,000, with earnings of $6,580,000, or $1.34 per share, compared with sales in the fourth quarter a year ago of $171,864,000 and earnings from continuing operations of $4,787,000, or 98 cents per share.

Every major operating unit had improved sales and profits over a year ago, Smith said, with the Automotive Division and A. O. Smith Harvestore Products, Inc., a subsidiary, making the biggest contributions to the earnings improvement.

While unit volume in Automotive was modestly lower than a year ago, profits were up substantially because 1977 performance was adversely affected by startup costs associated with model changes.

With startup problems and expenses essentially absent during 1978, factory operations at the nation's largest manufacturer of automobile and truck frames improved throughout the year.

Earnings at A. O. Smith Harvestore Products, a major manufacturer of livestock feeding and waste management systems, clearly rose. In 1978, operating with 1977, on a 32 percent increase in sales. Operating improvements at the subsidiary's three manufacturing plants and increased unit volume were the primary reasons for the substantial profit rise.

Both sales and profits at the Electric Motor Division showed strong increases in 1978 over 1977, partially due to a healthy new housing market. This division is a leading manufacturer of electric motors for the air conditioning, refrigeration and water pumping markets.

The Consumer Products Division, a major supplier of residential and commercial water heating equipment, also posted higher sales and earnings for the year, although profit improvement was restricted by a number of factors, including a strike at the division's main plant.

Social security benefits—no, longer at fixed amount

"Johnny Marshall" opened the mailbox, took out the envelopes and noted with relief that one was his pension from his old company, where he had been a production foreman for 30 years. He opened the envelope, looked at the check and saw that it was in the right amount, the same as always.

He sighed, thinking how nice it would be if everything else remained the same. But it seemed like he was getting less and less for his grocery money. His car's appetite for gasoline seemed to be growing with growing gas prices, and just last week the landlord indicated a raise in the rent when his lease was up.

He sighed again, remembering how much further the check would have gone when he first started working for the company years ago. Thank goodness for his social security check, he thought.

Marshall's plight dramatizes the problems people on fixed incomes have in keeping up with the cost of living. They say many people may not realize that social security beneficiaries are no longer on fixed incomes. At least the social security part of their income isn't fixed.

Today, social security benefits increase automatically each year with increases in the cost of living. And in the future when a person's benefit amount is first figured—when he or she retires, or becomes disabled or dies—it will be computed in terms of the value of dollars at that time, not the value of dollars that existed when he or she earned them many years earlier.

This means that, over the years—as workers pay tax contributions into the social security system—they can expect that the value of the protection being earned is not being whittled away by changes in the economy—increases in prices and wages. And once the person receives social security benefits, he or she can expect the purchasing power to be maintained automatically, officials say.

The present social security method of dealing with the problem of inflation did not come easily.

In 1972, an automatic cost-of-living escalator was included in the law. However, this provision overcompensated for inflation, responding erratically to changes in the economy, and caused benefit levels to escalate out of control.

Some workers in the future would have retired with more in social security payments than they were making in earnings. Young workers who became disabled were getting much higher benefits based on their recent work at high wages than were workers who retired after a lifetime of contributing to the system.

The situation was corrected by the 1977 changes in the law. Starting in 1979, for most people a new method of figuring benefits does not use the cost-of-living formula for people not yet on the rolls. Instead, it will base the initial benefit amount on increases in wage levels over the years by updating the actual dollar earnings for past years to reflect such changes.

For example, if a worker earned $3,300 in 1955, retired at age 62 in 1980, and earnings level were about three times higher in 1978 (the indexing point) than in 1955, the $3,300 would be increased three times, to about $10,000.

For Johnny Marshall and others who contributed to social security over the years as well as people who will contribute for many years in the future—it is only fair that they can expect to have the value of their benefits protected in this manner, a federal spokesman contends.

District opera auditions in area Friday

Vocalists in Southern Illinois will try to sing their way to New York's Metropolitan Opera. District auditions of the Metropolitan Opera National Council's regional auditions program will be held Friday, Jan. 26, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, beginning at 1 p.m. in the Communications Building theater.

District winners will compete in regional semifinals and finals in Chicago March 3 and 4.

The regional winner will be sent to New York to compete in national semifinals April 1, and to be auditioned by the general manager of the Metropolitan Opera House.

Vocalists from the counties of Madison, Jersey, Calhoun, Greene, Macoupin, Montgomery and Bond, all counties touched by Highway 50 and the Illinois counties south of the highway were allowed to apply as contestants for the Southern Illinois district auditions.

Broader assistance to students

As noted here Thursday, college aid will be easier but harder this year.

A new federal law makes it easier to qualify, but students will need to contact SUIE in person to get the override forms to apply.

The Middle Income Student Assistance Act now will include many independent students and previously ineligible students from families with yearly income of up to $25,000.

Students who currently receive some type of financial aid won't automatically receive renewal forms through the mail this year.

Instead, all applications for new grants or renewals for the 1979-80 academic year must be picked up in the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance in Room 2306 of the Randleman Building, or from local high school or college counselors.

John Jenetten emphasizes that only SUIE applications for financial aid and student work will be mailed and only to entering freshmen and transfer students as they are admitted on a weekly basis.

He said continuing SUIE students and previously ineligible students may miss the opportunity to receive aid because they are unaware of the changes in the law and the mailing program.

The new law makes to basic changes in the eligibility figures—it increases the total dollar value of assets exempt from the formula, and it decreases the family income percentage to be contributed to student support.

Under the new guidelines, chances for receiving financial assistance are much greater than people think, Jenetten said.

Eligibility is based on a number of factors, including family size, assets, debts, taxes, number of wage earners and the number of children in college, as well as family income.

To be considered for financial aid from the three basic sources—federal and state governments or the university—undergraduate students are to begin with the SUIE Application for Financial Aid, which also serves as the application for student employment.

The next step is to establish need by completing the Family Financial Statement of the American College Testing Student Assistance Program (ACT-FPS) which may also be used for the federal Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG).

"I realize many people are reluctant to complete forms requiring information about their income and assets," Jenetten said. "However, this is kept confidential and is necessary to make a determination of an applicant's real need."

All undergraduate Illinois residents should also complete the separate form for state aid through the Illinois State Scholarship Commission (ISSC) Monetary Award, which pays the cost of tuition and fees, Jenetten said.

Deadlines vary for all programs, but applications for SUIE aid for the fall quarter of 1979 must be completed by May 1, 1979; for ISSC by Oct. 1, 1979; and for BEOG by March 15, 1980.

Retroactive awards are possible under both state and federal programs.

Additional information about student aid programs or application forms is available at the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance at 692-3850. A free brochure explaining the 1979-80 programs is available on request.

"Putting up a home CB antenna? Play it safe, good buddy!"

Follow these nine safety rules stressed by experts in CB antenna installation:

- (see lower right)
- Don't assume that a line is a telephone or television cable line. Don't touch any lines.
- Don't assume that power lines are insulated. Even if they are, don't touch them.
- Don't do the work on a windy day. The wind can blow the antenna or tower into a power line.
- Don't touch the antenna if it falls across a power line. Call Illinois Power Company.
- Make certain that, should the antenna fall, it will not touch a power line. Step off the distance to the nearest line or use a measuring tape.

- Wear gloves that will insulate and rubber boots or rubber-soled shoes to lessen grounding.
- Assemble the antenna close to the installation site. This will eliminate having to carry it near possible hazards.
- Have enough manpower to prevent the antenna from toppling.

Whether it's for your Citizen's Band radio or your television set, any antenna installation is potentially hazardous. Call a professional installer and have the job done right—and safely.

Yesterday's children—where are they now?

PEOPLE

WHATEVER HAPPENED TO little Arlene Haldeman (left)? Why she's a secretary in the accounting department of the Board of Education office. Merna Musterman (right) is Granite City School District gifted children program coordinator. All of the folks pictured work for School District Nine.

DOROTHY LARNER (left) grew up to be a secretary in the school district's cafeteria department and little Eugene Alassi (right) is now the district's art consultant and director of public relations.

Yesterday's children — whatever became of them? Did they disappear to the land of forgotten bonnets and curls? Did they fulfill their childhood hopes and dreams?

Look around you and you will see yesterday's children. They have all grown up. Gone are the short pants and high top shoes, the bonnets, the ribbons in their hair.

The cop on his beat, the doctor, the lawyer and the teacher are among those whose baby pictures are tucked away somewhere for very few to see.

Whatever happened to that little girl in the class who had pigtails long enough to dip in the inkwell? She grew up to be the homecoming queen, got married and moved to New York.

All of the little ones grew up and moved away from childish things. Some moved away from the place of their childhood. Some teach the young ones of today.

Down at the Granite City Board of Education office, a large group of yesterday's children make up the staff that keeps the school district going.

Mrs. Alassi's bouncing baby boy grew up to become art consultant and director of public relations for the school system. Little Merna Musterman became coordinator of the gifted program.

MARGE BURDGE (left) is secretary to Frank Kraus, assistant superintendent of schools. Priscilla Veach (top right) is a secretary in the athletic department and Barbara Lerner (right) is switchboard operator-receptionist.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION must have been her thing, because Leigh Heller (left) is the PE coordinator for District Nine. At the right is Priscilla Veach, when a little older. (She was never what you could call camera shy.)

Florida image no help to governor of snowed-in, overtaxed Illinoisans

By ROBERT ESTILL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

Has success spoiled Gov. James Thompson?

The Illinois Republican's biggest asset has been his flair for public relations, his ability to appear warm, friendly, casual and concerned about the "Little Guy."

That image contributed to his setting "Prairie State" plurality records when he won the governor's office in 1976 and was re-elected to a full four-year term in 1978.

Those impressive victories made him a promising new star in the GOP galaxy, a possible contender for the presidential nomination in 1980.

But in little more than two months since his re-election, Thompson's image has taken a drubbing.

He aroused widespread resentment among outraged Illinoisans by his handling of $8,000-a-year pay hikes approved for himself, other state officials and some cabinet members.

Lawmakers and judges at a lame duck legislative session.

To keep a campaign promise, he vetoed the pay hikes.

But to stay on good terms with the lawmakers, he did it in such a speedy and unprecedented fashion—by long-distance telephone from South Carolina—that the lawmakers were able to easily override the veto before public opposition could be mounted.

The whole process—approving the pay hikes, the veto and the override—took only about six hours.

Responding to an outpouring of public protest, Thompson and the lawmakers agreed to spread the pay hikes over two years; but the damage was done.

The next step down was his waffling on gasoline tax hikes. In his inaugural address, Thompson said he would not propose any tax increases.

In subsequent interviews, he has been quoted as saying both that he would and would not increase gasoline taxes.

His correct position is that it is under study.

His latest public relations faux pas was a vacation trip to Florida while Illinois' 22 northern counties, a fourth of the state containing more than half of the population, were in a state of emergency because of a heavy snowfall.

Thompson declared a state emergency, asked for federal assistance and left with his family for Florida the day before President Carter granted the federal aid request.

His defenders argue he could have accomplished little by remaining; but for an image-conscious governor, staying at the helm would at least have given the appearance of leadership.

A ship's captain does not leave the bridge during a storm, no matter how much confidence he reposes in the crew.

The vision of Thompson spending his pay hike to go stretch his 6-6 frame in the Florida sun cannot sit well with Illinoisans up to their waists in snow and taxes. He rushed back home three days later, asserting he won't apologize for the trip.

Just how much lasting damage Thompson has done to his image is difficult to calculate.

"It has helped solidify a judgment for some that he is pretty much a lightweight," said one Washington-based Republican who is no stranger to either gubernatorial campaigns or efforts to corral delegate votes for national conventions.

Clearly, there is less talk these days among Illinois Republicans in Washington about a potential presidential bid by Thompson in 1980.

That apparently is due more to the absence of any moves by Thompson than to his public relations problems back home.

Illinois Congressmen Philip Crane of Mount Prospect and John B. Anderson of Rockford are actively rounding up presidential support in their home state, and organizers for Ronald Reagan and George Bush also have made inroads in the state.

So far, Thompson has not taken any steps to line up delegates or oil the machinery for a personal bid.

He has maintained he is not a candidate, but has discouraged speculation by saying flat out that he will serve his four years as governor.

At the rate he is going, people soon may start taking seriously his comments that he is not a candidate.

Orient scene of new novel Ginger Tree

THE GINGER TREE
By Oswald Wynd
(New York:
Ballantine Books, 1978)
Reviewed by William T. Going

of English

If you like a good story in an Oriental setting, "The Ginger Tree" is for you. It begins in 1903 when a Scotch lassie sets sail for China to join her fiancé, a military attaché in the British diplomatic corps. In 1942, she returns to Europe for the first time; the ship is the Grisholm, a Red Cross vessel that removes enemy aliens from Japan. Between these dates are exciting years in the Orient—the aftermath of the Boxer Rebellion, the Sino-Japanese War, the Eastern repercussions of World War I, and the beginnings of World War II.

But that is only the background for the adventures of the narrator-heroine, Mary Mackenzie. She is invited to tea by the last Manchu Empress Tsz'e Hsi, falls in love with a Japanese war lord who does not permit her to rear their son, operates a fashionable Western dress shop just off Tokyo's Ginza, endures the great earthquake, and becomes a devotee of Japanese gardens.

The novel is told in the classic device of the letters and journals of this "liberated" woman who learns to know the Far East. Despite her naive sister, you, too, as a reader will come to know much about food, housing, business practices, religion, love and art in China and Japan. Everything is a bit romanticized, but the novel is real enough in detail to lead you swiftly from page to page.

Better proportioned than the bestseller about Australia, "The Three Birds," this novel never departs from the story of its heroine and her view of a fast-changing Orient.

Only the ginger tree in her garden, like the indestructible heroine herself, fixedly endures the ravages of fate and fortune.

After the novel is finished, the reader may begin to speculate that Mary Mackenzie will probably return to a new Japan and to an old age of wealth and wisdom.

Battery alleged

Michael Gancheff, 3108 Edgewood Ave., was arrested at the home of a girlfriend last week and was charged with battery from a disturbance at Northtown Rentals, 4900 Nameoki Road. Gancheff allegedly struck Jerry D. Noeltner, Highland, during a disagreement at the rental company, where Noeltner is employed. Noeltner suffered bruises and scratches to his left cheek and around his eye. The victim said he intervened when Gancheff began accusing another employee of removing parts from Gancheff's auto, which had been broken down on Bremen Avenue near the rental office.

Noeltner tried to aid the other employee and alleged he was beaten, knocked down and kicked on the head and neck before Gancheff left with his girlfriend in a vehicle.

YOU'RE HALF-WRONG, MR. ADVERTISING MAN...

You seem to think that all women want low prices... but there are many more things in life than bargains. I must admit that you do have bargains, but I don't like being pushed around. I don't like to stand in a long line and see several cash registers not in use. I do admit your stores are clean, but nobody seems to know my name!

All of the comments above came from our customers by way of our suggestion letters available (postage paid) in all our stores. They go directly to our president, Mr. S. E. Perrell, Jr., who immediately talks to the people involved with the comments and then answers your letter. Please continue to use them and keep us all on our toes.
